Hyde Park Square Business Association announces new officers

The Hyde Park Square Business Association has elected Lori Wellinghoff as its board president. She is joined by Co-Vice Presidents Margo Heubi (recent past president) of The Panhandler and Vince Bryant of Teller's as well as new Secretary/Treasurer Chip Workman of Merchants Bank & Trust. They were installed at the Association's Annual Meeting held in April at Teller's, Hyde Park Square.

Wellinghoff, a realtor with Comey & Shepherd, is president and owner of DIGS, a full service real estate, design and renovation firm headquartered in Hyde Park Square at 3524 Edwards Road.

"Our mantra is simply this: Hyde Park Square is a place not a mall - we intend to propel increased traffic and patronage by promoting our uniquely appealing attributes to our residential neighbors and the Greater Cincinnati shopping public," said Wellinghoff, a resident of Hyde Park.

The Association has set the following objectives for the year: offering a diverse schedule of events and concerts on the Square; evaluating parking alternatives and solutions to increase accessibility, increasing the advertising initiatives for the Square while using www.hydeparksquare.org as a resource and increasing membership from the Hyde Park Square-based businesses.
